JEALOUSY MOTIVE
FOR THE MURDER
OF A WOMAN

SUSPECT TELLS STORY OF CRIME COMMITTED IN HIS OFFICE.
(By Associated Press.)
FREEPORT, N. Y., July 1.—Evidence today supported Dr. Edward Carman's story that Mrs. Louise Bailey, slain last night, was killed by a shot from outside through a window. Although Carman insisted he had not met the woman until she called for professional advice, detectives investigating reported a Carman says there was a crash of glass when he saw a hand with a pistol poked through the broken pane. Then came a shot, and the woman fell with a bullet in her heart. She was prominent and leaves a husband.
WHY AGENT FOR THE FAIR PUBLICITY OF THE FAIR
And so Sam Dunham, of the New York Mining Age, has been appointed publicity agent of the State Exposition. Dunham is a Democrat, or used to be, but as he was not a member of the last legislature his appointment is a mystery not easily explained. He's a good old scout and the Record is pleased to learn that he is to be in on some of this new money. But why publicity agent? Has the commission anything to sell? And, if so, hasn't it enough ability among its numerous appointees to do the work? Let's see. It now has a general commissioner, an assistant at $300 per year, a secretary and three or four other members of the legislature on the payroll as assistants, with nothing to do but spend the money. But they are entitled to it, for did they not vote for the bill and help push it through? Of course the constitution says no member of the legislature shall accept employment through any measures passed while he was a member of the legislature. But why a constitution anyway? Don't the boys need the money? In the language of the immortal Web Planetarian: "What are we here for? And then don't Carson City get all the money? Sure Mike! Then why spend any of it in California?—Ely Record.

Roosevelt Opens Campaign
With a Speech at Pittsburg
Denouncing Administration

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 1.—A throat specialist has informed Roosevelt that he would have to rest for six weeks.
(By Associated Press.)
PITTSBURGH, July 1.—Theodore Roosevelt delivered last night the first political address that has come from him since his return from Brazil. It was divided, generally speaking, into three parts—an attack on the Wilson administration, an indictment of the "bosses" and an exposition of the principles of the Progressive party.

The administration's tariff laws Colonel Roosevelt hailed as a colossal failure, particularly that upon the farmer's anti-trust programme he branded as an economic absurdity. His foreign policy he styled as "wretched," but upon this he did not elaborate. The Democratic tariff, he insisted, had brought distress upon the nation, had not lowered the cost of living and had chiefly benefited foreign rivals of American business. The solution needed, he argued, in support of the Progressive movement, and the enactment of laws providing for tariff revision by a non-partisan commission.

Of the "bosses," Mr. Roosevelt said:
"It is, and always will be," he said, "the States Rights party, the party afraid of power."
Yet the colonel warned those dissatisfied with the administration not through their resentment to throw their support to the leaders he had attacked. To do so, he said, would only ensure a continuation of "government by confusion, of a government by confusion, of a government by confusion."

TWO GOOD FIGHTS
OPEN PROGRAMME
ON FRIDAY NIGHT

TONOPAH MEN IN GOOD SHAPE AND READY TO ENTER THE RING.
The programme of festivities for the Fourth will be opened in Tonopah with the boxing contests arranged for Friday night so as to leave the following two days free for a programme of diversified events that will prevent the town from having a dull moment during the three days celebration.

The sale of seats has been up to expectations, the demand for ring-side seats being better than the committee anticipated.
Walter Coffey and Russell Kane are entered in the main event and from the way the boys have been going for the past fifteen days it begins to look as though it would be to the limit. The boys are in excellent shape and those who have not seen them or who entertain any doubt of the ability of the men to make the fight of their lives are invited to go to the gymnasium or the Casino any afternoon at 2:30 and see them mix with their boxing partners.

VACANCY IN RANKS
TELEPHONE GIRLS

MISS MAYME GOMM MARRIED TO WARREN McALEER LAST NIGHT.
Tonopah is likely to be deprived of telephone service if Cupid does not cease his mischievous pranks with the popular young ladies of the local office. Last week one of the hello girls resigned unexpectedly and in a few hours was united in marriage to a gentleman of Millers. Last night another one of the ladies changed her name and created a vacancy in the office. The youngest matron is Miss Mayme Gomm, who was married to Warren McAleer, of the office force of the Tonopah Mining company. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Swander, at the bride's residence, where a supper was served and the young couple received congratulations from a house full of friends. The bride and groom were attended by Oliver H. Perry and Miss Florence Gomm.

DIVERS MINE GOLD IN BED OF FEATHER RIVER

OROVILLE, July 1.—Delving for the golden gravels of the Feather river by means of deep-sea diving apparatus, J. W. Wright and A. B. Knapp, both of Reno, are now at a point near Belden and are making good wages at their work. At the present time they are working in about ten to fifteen feet of water and the diver stays down about half an hour at a time, washing him to watch in the crevices of the bed rock for the precious metal.

MOOSE HIGH JINKS AT I. O. O. F. THIS EVENING

The Moose will hold an outdoor picnic this evening at the hall of the I. O. O. F. with an unusually attractive programme. This is the first of the proposed monthly socials and on this occasion a bunch of moose will be retained after which there will be boxing contests and refreshments.

what he has heretofore—that they thwarted the rank and file of the Republican party by the nomination of Taft at Chicago and in so doing, "deliberately put the Democratic organization and Mr. Wilson into power." In conclusion, the colonel sketched the Progressive idea of needed anti-trust regulation by properly empowered commissions, contrasting such proposals with legislation now pending at Washington, which he found woefully inadequate. Such a programme alone, he contended, proved the inadequacy of the Democratic party.

"It is, and always will be," he said, "the States Rights party, the party afraid of power."
Yet the colonel warned those dissatisfied with the administration not through their resentment to throw their support to the leaders he had attacked. To do so, he said, would only ensure a continuation of "government by confusion, of a government by confusion, of a government by confusion."

Colonel Roosevelt came here to speak in support of the candidacy of E. Dean Lewis for governor and of Clifford Pinchot for United States senator. Their qualifications he touched upon at the opening of his speech. Thereafter he confirmed himself to the national issue outlined.

"The present national administration," he said, "is pursuing a course that prevents the existence of prosperity, and that does not offer a single serious or intelligible plan for passing prosperity round, should shape the flag of good citizenship and fight to translate those sound and lofty principles into governmental practice."

"This is true both as regards the trust question and the tariff question. As regards both, the only wise course to follow is that set forth in the national Progressive platform. The nation should deal with both by continuing executive action through administrative commissions of ample power. One commission should shape tariff policies so as with thorough knowledge disinterestedly acquired to give proper encouragement to our merchants while also giving proper protection to our wage workers, our farmers and our business men. The other commission should exercise strict supervision and control over big business. We should treat with entire justice, drawing the line not in size, but in misconduct. We should encourage the big business man who does well and who regards his great abilities as a trust to be exercised as such in the interest of the public as in his own interests. But we should check and punish him effectively and promptly when he exercises these abilities to the detriment of the public. We should encourage the big business man who does well and who regards his great abilities as a trust to be exercised as such in the interest of the public as in his own interests. But we should check and punish him effectively and promptly when he exercises these abilities to the detriment of the public. We should encourage the big business man who does well and who regards his great abilities as a trust to be exercised as such in the interest of the public as in his own interests. But we should check and punish him effectively and promptly when he exercises these abilities to the detriment of the public."

"As regards the tariff, I wish especially to call your attention to the promises made by President Wilson and his supporters two years ago. They asserted that their method of tariff reduction would reduce the cost of living and would thus solve the trust question because, as they said, the trusts were creatures of the tariff. We then answered that their promises were empty words, that no such results as they stated could or would follow from the course they advocated, and that only by the method we proposed could either the trust or the tariff question be dealt with so as to abate the existing evils and solve the trust question. But the ability of the average man to earn a living has been greatly reduced. Not the slightest progress has been made toward solving the trust question. But the business community has been harassed and harried to no purpose, and the prosperity of the business man has been checked, exactly as the prosperity of the farmer and the wage worker has been checked. As for the farmer, the present tariff, the administration's tariff, was so framed as to result in the sacrifice of his interests. He had no spokesman, no friend in high quarters and his welfare in business was sacrificed. At every point where his interest was concerned, he was made to suffer. As for the wage worker, the result of the tariff was that he suffered even more than his employer, for he was thrown out of employment and lost the means to earn his livelihood.

"As for the employer, sometimes he has been made to suffer on with the loss of profits, sometimes he has had to close his shop. In business and in which any of the big trusts were concerned, it was the small competitors of the trusts who were injured and in many cases ruined. Tariff reduction has not into practice by the present administration has chiefly benefited foreign rivals and competitors. It has done grave injury to the business community and the farming community, and has caused suffering to the wage workers and the whole policy of the administration has been one to cause our people in business, one people on the farm, our people with dinner

(By Associated Press.)
RED BLUFF, July 1.—Lassen peak burst forth today in a stupendous eruption, the fourteenth in the series that began May 30th. There were no flames, but a vast plume of blackened steam waved a mile high, and volcanic ash fell at Maconber Flats, thirteen miles away. So great was the force of the eruption that the cloud was made to appear almost as if one mountain stood a top of another. Two eruptions seemed to be going on at the same time. Sulphur was noticeable at Viola, a distance of 22 miles. The eruption overtopped yesterday's in grandeur and duration.

Mr. Pappas reports that a tunnel has been driven in for a distance of 125 feet, which is planned to eventually cut three strong leads. One of the leads has already been cut, which is two feet in width and shows good ore as far as prospected. He is of the opinion that the company now has a sufficient tonnage of ore in sight to justify the erection of a small stamp mill, and all stockholders are of the same opinion.
